IT'S THE APPLE OF RAILWAY'S EYE

The only one-of-its-kind, heading from Kelowna for Edmonton Wednesday following a fierce overnight blizzard that brought traffic to a standstill and threatened hundreds of motorists whose cars were trapped in the blinding, wind-driven snow.

riately with a red-and-green symbol of its cargo on a white background, was put into service by the railway last fall and has made four trips to the oil city. The car is a

50-foot insulated monster designed primarily for winter use, but is not employed in extreme temperatures. The shipment was made by B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., through Kelowna

Growers' Exchange. "It's just like the ones you see on television commercials," said a railway spokesman. (Courier Photo)

Hundreds Trapped By Prairie Storm

REGINA (CP) — Relative calm returned to most of southern Saskatchewan today following a fierce overnight blizzard that brought traffic to a standstill and threatened hundreds of motorists whose cars were trapped in the blinding, wind-driven snow.

The first glint of daylight showed the storm's toll: hundreds of vehicles abandoned on highways and city streets.

No injuries or serious accidents were immediately reported. RCMP and two truck services were on the highways at dawn attempting to clear the roads of stalled vehicles.

An RCMP spokesman said there were about 70 abandoned vehicles in the immediate area of Regina but this was just a small part of the storm's path. The blizzard, preceded in the Moose Jaw area by lightning and thunder as temperatures soared briefly to near 40 degrees, followed a path roughly from Edmonton southeast to the Estevan-Weyburn areas of Saskatchewan.

Four-inch fall An average of four inches of snow fell during the blizzard, driven by winds of up to 70 miles an hour.

Three passenger buses had been reported missing, but all three reached their destinations early this morning with no apparent injuries to passengers.

Two of the buses were up to five hours late on a 45-mile run from Moose Jaw to Regina, and the other arrived from Saskatoon about seven hours late.

The Regina weather office said the storm had moved into North Dakota early this morning and only its fringe was expected to catch parts of Manitoba.

The storm caused improvisation on the late-night newscast by a Regina television station. CKCK radio and television studios are located about three miles apart with reporters normally travelling from radio to the television station to present the late report. But newsmen got stranded in the blizzard and the report had to be fed by telephone from the radio station.

Two of Regina's largest taxi companies suspended operations during the height of the blizzard and buses operated only on major streets.

Kelowna Boy Wins Award

An eight-year-old Kelowna boy will be the first recipient of an award of honor by the Kelowna and District Safety Council.

Wayne Delorme of 447 Groves Ave., was cited by council for his "alert action" in assisting Miss Rhoda McVicar, 458 Groves Ave., when she choked on a piece of food Aug. 28, 1971. Wayne came to the rescue when he spotted her attempts to summon help from her doorway and slapped her on the back until normal breathing was restored.

Commending the boy on a "very serious situation" chairman S. A. Hodge, said Wayne had the "presence of mind to do the right thing at the right time."

The award will be presented at an as yet undecided date.

Pickets Beset Big Ottawa Day

Bleak Britain Sees A Ray

LONDON (CP) — One of the fastest official inquiries in British history is preparing recommendations for ending a rapidly-worsening power shortage caused by a coal-mine strike.

The inquiry, headed by Lord Wilberforce, concluded hearings Wednesday after less than 48 hours. A report may be completed by Friday.

Whether the inquiry will succeed in ending a 39-day-old coal miners' strike is a subject of intense speculation. There appears to be some optimism among veteran observers that the report may provide at least a basis for settlement.

Members of the inquiry have set up beds in their offices to enable a 24-hour working day until their recommendations have been completed.

Their task, basically, is to recommend some settlement which would satisfy the miners, who have been asking for about a 25-per-cent increase, and the government, which is determined to hold increases between seven and eight per cent as part of an anti-inflation fight.

AMONG LOWEST PAID The miners argue that their case is a special one. They are among the lowest-paid workers in Britain with take-home earnings of about $50 a week.

LONDON (AP) — Striking coal miners blockaded oil supplies from two of Britain's biggest refineries today in a bid to intensify power blackouts curtailing industry, darkening homes and making idle millions of workers.

To block supplies to oil-fired electricity generating plants, the miners threw up picket lines at the refineries on the Thames and Tees rivers and railway workers refused to cross them to transport the oil. Virtually no oil left the refineries.

Teachers claim amendments proposed to the British Columbia Schools Act by Education Minister Donald Broderick, infringe on teacher rights. Mr. Broderick said last week the changes, introduced under the guise of removing incompetent teachers, would enable school boards or governments to get rid of competent teachers for reasons which have nothing to do with their teaching abilities.

An invitation by the association to Mr. Broderick was declined by the minister because of government business.

Maniac Knifer Kills 3 Tots

BLACKPOOL, England (AP) — A knife-wielding maniac ran amok among sleeping children in a Blackpool hospital early today and escaped after slaying three children to death as they slumbered in their cots.

Two nurses were badly wounded and another child suffered minor stab injuries in the attack on the children's ward of the 900-bed Victoria Hospital.

More than 200 police combed the hospital grounds and a nearby park for the berserk killer, described as a tall young man with dark hair and a foreign accent.

Roadblocks were set up on every highway leading out of this holiday resort on England's northwest coast.

Police said the intruder walked into the ward on the hospital's second floor at 1 a.m., claiming to be a member of the staff and asking for sleeping tablets.

STABBED NURSES Then, without warning, he pulled his knife and stabbed two duty nurses in the chest.

The three dead were identified as Deborah Carson, 4, Martin Langhorne, 2, and Nicholas Scott, 2. Another two-year-old boy, Darren Quamer, was slashed in a satisfactory condition.

The stabbed nurses—Dorothy Simpson, 40, and Christine Nuttall, 22—underwent emergency surgery that saved their lives.

Six Seamen Still Missing

GLACE BAY, N.S. (CP) — Rough seas and shifting slabs of sea ice Wednesday prevented divers from searching around the battered hull of the fishing trawler Gulf Gull for six missing crew members.

So far, only three of the trawler's nine-man crew have been rescued and police said there was little hope that the others would be found alive.

The 86-foot trawler was slammed on to the rocky coastline of nearby Baileine Bay early Tuesday as she punched her way through high seas towards her home port of North Sydney, N.S.

THE QUEEN was referred to almost immediately in the speech from the throne opening of the new parliamentary session.

Gov.-Gen. Roland Michener, above, who read the speech outlining the government's legislative plans, thanked the members of the Commons and Senate in the Queen's name and on behalf of Canadians for their "efforts and accomplishments" during the last session.

No Answers For Teachers

A meeting in Rutland Wednesday, by elementary and secondary teachers in School District 23 (Central Okanagan) did not come up with any answers.

Maurice Reveyrand, president of the Kelowna Teachers' Association, said today although some questions were directed to guest speaker, Adam Robertson, president of the British Columbia Teachers' Federation, many questions were left "unanswered."

Teachers claim amendments proposed to the British Columbia Schools Act by Education Minister Donald Broderick, infringe on teacher rights. Mr. Reveyrand said last week the changes, introduced under the guise of removing incompetent teachers, would enable school boards or governments to get rid of competent teachers for reasons which have nothing to do with their teaching abilities.

An invitation by the association to Mr. Broderick was declined by the minister because of government business.

How To Close Generation Gap

The best way to communicate with youth is to invite them to a meeting, the Kelowna and District Safety Council decided at its regular meeting Wednesday.

The idea was proposed by Keith Maltman, city superintendent of recreation and chairman of the safety council youth committee. He said two fruitless meetings with various youth groups (attended by one representative at each meeting) had suggested the committee was "not on the right track" in attracting the junior generation.

Mr. Maltman said the committee felt if the council wished to communicate directly with youth it would have to ask them for representation at council meetings. Such an approach, he added, would establish a communications process and provide a "liaison over the months."

Representation could also be elicited from colleges and sports car organizations, Mr. Maltman emphasized.

Members approved adoption of Mr. Maltman's report in principle and that youth groups be invited to attend safety council meetings.

Now 'Peking Toms' Observe Chinese

BANGKOK (Reuters) — China experts in the U.S. state department now are known as "Peking Toms," says Leonard Ungler, U.S. ambassador to Thailand. In a lighthearted address to the American Chamber of Commerce, Ungler said an old state department saying once defined an optimist as a foreign service officer who studied Russian, and a pessimist as one who was studying Chinese.

Speech From Throne Marred In Move By CBC Technicians

OTTAWA (CP) — Parliament, beset by pickets, opened a new session today with government promises of more housing, compensation for victims of crime and federal participation in public legal aid.

The session is expected to be abbreviated, probably cut short by a general election. The government promised in the throne speech to give top priority to its family income security program—bigger allowances for larger and poorer families.

Striking CBC technicians marched at the gates of Parliament Hill and CBC news reporters would not cross their lines to report the event.

It was the first time in 17 years that the CBC did not broadcast the opening ceremony in the Senate chamber by radio and television. Its technicians, members of the National Association of Broadcast Employees and Technicians, have been striking for higher pay and shorter hours.

OUTLINES LEGISLATION The speech outlining the government's legislative program also promised policies to ensure the equality of women in Canadian society, an extension of public housing programs with community participation and establishment of three new national parks in the Far North.

Legislation to strengthen anti-combines law and amend federal labor law—introduced in the last session and subjects of public controversy—will be reintroduced in modified form.

The speech was read by Gov.-Gen. Roland Michener to senators and MPs assembled in the scarlet and walnut Senate chamber.

It said "protective steps" would be taken in a number of areas of wide concern to Canadians, including the non-medical use of drugs, compensation for victims of crime, and the protection of privacy. But it did not spell out in any detail what these steps would be.

"The government is committed as well to federal participation in legal aid subject to satisfactory cost-sharing and administrative details being worked out," it said.

Policies will also be announced during the new session "to ensure the equality of women in Canadian society," the speech added.

The 3,700-word speech, longer than usual, swept over nearly every aspect of national affairs, stating the government's philosophy about the need to bring everyone into active participation.

"Every one of us is enriched through involvement in this stimulating process we call Canada," the speech said.

Foreign Ownership Policy

The fourth session of the 28th parliament, elected in 1968, is expected to be the last before a general election later this year.

As is usual with pre-election throne speeches, this one held out promises for everyone—labor, management, farmers, fishermen, consumers, men, women and children.

It put emphasis on the economic challenges facing Canada. In what appeared to be a reference to the recent international financial crisis it said "we learned... that Canada and Canadians possessed the stamina and the resilience to overcome this form of adversity as well."

Overcoming unemployment remains "a primary focus of attention and action" and the government will work to ensure a favorable business climate.

A federal government official told reporters that 10 government bills will be introduced in the next few days, and six ministers will participate in the throne speech debate.

Liquid Asset SOON LOADED

MORRISBURG, Ont. (CP) — The derailment last Friday of 36 cars of a CNR freight train has yielded a liquid bonanza for some residents of the area 25 miles southwest of Cornwall.

One of the boxcars was loaded with wine. Now, some residents are loaded.

Two have been charged with illegal possession, and police say there will be more. Residents come through the bush at night, many on snowmobiles, and for some, the drinking begins immediately. The charges were the result of complaints of drunkenness.

At the start, a single CNR policeman was on guard, but the flood became so heavy that he was unable to cope. Between midnight and daylight today, 30 or 40 people dropped by to do their "shopping."

So the car was to be covered with debris from the wreck to make access difficult. And the guard is going up to three men.

Foreign Ownership Policy

The official also indicated the government will give priority to enacting a family income security program announced last session, a spring budget, and a bill carrying on federal-provincial financial arrangements for five years from next March 31.

The government also will push an expansion of its housing program and announce a policy governing foreign ownership of Canadian industry, possibly backed up by legislation.

The government will develop programs to strengthen secondary industry, and encourage private financial houses to provide export credits in addition to those now extended by the government. Also promised was new incentives for development of the tourist industry.

The speech said the resource and energy industries will be encouraged, and steps taken as well to protect the environment.

Howard Wants Election Fight On Ottawa-B.C.'s Antagonism

OTTAWA (Special) — Bruce Howard, L-Okanagan-Boundary, says he hopes antagonism between the British Columbia cabinet and the federal government becomes an election issue.

Mr. Howard told the Ottawa bureau of the Courier Prime Minister Trudeau's reference to Premier W. A. C. Bennett as a "bigot" brought into the open "a growing anti-federal campaign on the part of the provincial cabinet."

"This has been going on under the table for a good many months now," Mr. Howard said, "I'm glad to see they finally brought it out into the open."

Mr. Trudeau made a reference to Mr. Bennett during a meeting of Ontario Liberals in Ottawa last weekend.

Mr. Bennett smiled and smiled at the comment. The B.C. cabinet replied with an announcement it will take the federal government to court over equalization payments plan, particularly in regard to Quebec.

"If Bennett wants to make an argument about equalization payments, he could make a far better case about Newfoundland, which gets even higher grant per capita than Quebec," Mr. Howard said.

The Liberal backbencher said the attitude is part of an "under the table anti-Quebec" campaign which has included a lot of John Burke society-type comments around Vancouver by commentators on radio hot line shows.

"Calling people names doesn't really solve anything," he said, "but in this case it serves to dramatize the fact that Bennett is a long way to the right, and many of his cabinet ministers have joined him."

Mr. Howard said it is "ironic" that B.C. government should rebel over the issue of bilingualism.

"British Columbia isn't affected in any tangible way," he said, "Putting a sign over the post office in two languages does not impose any hardship on anyone."

BOUCHERIE GONDOLA

Some Residents Vote 'No'

Visions of rocks hurling down a mountain, and residents near it being subject to "peeping Toms," were conjured up Wednesday night.

Several residents of the Boucherie Mountain area near Westbank visited the Regional District of Central Okanagan board to protest plans to develop a gondola lift there. D. A. Pritchard, director for that area, was asked to arrange a meeting between residents and proponents of the scheme, and report to the board.

A brief outline of the scheme was given in a letter from J. R. Lewthwaite, G. J. Lee, J. P. Currell and R. J. Brooks, who propose the lift. They said it would use about two acres of the 240 acres on the mountain, and would be "an outstanding tourist attraction."

Traffic would leave the highway at Hudson Road. The lower terminal area would be in an orchard, with a terminal building, paved parking lot, fruit stand and picnic tables. At the top there would be a tea house, picnic tables and display map.

The developers said the lift would provide safe, easy access to the park area, the natural beauty would not be touched, and the upper terminal park area would be developed with advice from a Lakeview committee.

Main objections were contained in a letter from Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Denter. They said loose rocks, which cover much of the mountain surface, could be dislodged, causing damage, injury or death to things or people below.

They also said residents would be visited by trespassers and "peeping Toms," animal life would be destroyed, traffic problems would result, the development might get in poor condition and homes would be devalued.

Their comments were supported verbally by George Gates and Hans Elmer.

Mr. Pritchard said the board was powerless until an official plan for the proposal was presented.

"Someone better have the answers to these objections," added James Stuart, representative for east and south Kelowna. He pointed out that since that area is not zoned and the park is controlled by provincial authorities, the board could not stop the project.

"But if we raise objections or state we favor it, provincial authorities will listen," suggested M. C. Jennings, director for Ellison-Beigo.

B.C. 'Separatist' Says Bourassa

Premier Robert Bourassa of Quebec accused the British Columbia government Wednesday of showing signs of separatism in an attack on federal equalization payments earlier this week. "If what its attorney-general said expresses an official position, the British Columbia government is giving proof of separatism," Mr. Bourassa said in a statement. He was referring to statements by Attorney-General Leslie Peterson in the B.C. legislature that the Pacific province will challenge the equalization payments program in court.

In Fort Leavenworth, Kan., a general court martial judge sentenced John Henry McCutcheon, 24, of Sidney, Ohio, to 25 years in prison Wednesday for the rape and attempted murder of an army officer's wife. He already is serving a 20-year term for rape committed in 1968.

The photographer Ronald E. Galella has in turn filed a $1.3 million damage suit against her on the grounds of assault, false arrest, malicious prosecution and interference with his work.

William Hamilton, vehemently anti-royalist member of the British Parliament, caused a stir in the House of Commons Wednesday when he referred to Prince Charles as a "young twerp." Explorers Remembered

LONDON (CP) — The post office Wednesday issued four stamps commemorating British polar explorers, three with Canadian associations. Sir James Ross, who carried out important Arctic and Antarctic magnetic surveys and established the location of the magnetic North Pole in 1831, is depicted on a three-penny stamp. A five-penny issue shows Sir Martin Robb, who crossed the Arctic Circle in 1576 in search of a northwest passage to the Orient. Frobenius Bay on Baffin Island is named after him. The 7½-penny stamp shows Henry Hudson, another seeker of the passage, who discovered the bay named after him in 1609. He perished on the same voyage when his ship became icebound and a mutinous crew turned him and eight others adrift in a small boat. The fourth stamp, a nine-penny, honors Capt. Robert Scott, who reached the South Pole in 1912 but perished with his polar party on the way back to his base.

Alberta's Funded Debt Rises With $96.6 Million Increase

In addition to direct debt, the province also was guaranteeing $1.4 billion in loans. Ulster Terror Flares Again

BELFAST (AP) — Terrorists in Northern Ireland murdered a part-time militiaman and killed another British soldier Wednesday night, raising the country's death toll in 2½ years of violence to at least 245. Thomas Callaghan, a Roman Catholic member of the mostly Protestant Ulster Defence Regiment, was dragged from the bus he was driving in Londonderry's Creggan District as his passengers screamed. The gunman bundled him into a car, shot him through the head and dumped his body at the edge of a road on the other side of the city.

THRONE SPEECH ROUND-UP

The government will introduce a formula for the payment to prairie wheat growers of a federal subsidy for wheat used in Canada. The co-called two-price system announced recently will be arranged so that farmers are paid on the basis of grain acreage, rather than actual wheat production.

New national marketing agencies for farm products and a small farm development program previously announced will again be put before Parliament.

Support for the fisheries industry will be extended, and price support machinery arranged so that the benefits go to fishermen, not processors. Conservation measures will also be taken to help increase the catch in future years.

The limits on student loans will be raised, the Fair Employment Practices Act amended, and the manpower program extended to make job training and placement more effective for the hard-core unemployed.

"Fresh concepts, continuing research, and imagination" will be employed in extending the housing program for neighborhood improvement and meet the need for low-cost housing for the poor.

One substantial bill to be introduced in the new session, an official said, will correct the defects now found in the revised Income Tax Act pushed through last year. It came into effect Jan. 1 and applies to income earned this year.

Three new national parks are to be created in the Yukon and Northwest Territories, and new wildlife habitats will be created to protect some endangered species.

The CBC is being authorized to extend its television service in the next five years, employing Canada's first satellite communications system.

THE ART OF MAKING BREAD

Linda Barrett demonstrates the art of bread-making during a session Wednesday at the Community Resources Centre in the First United Church, at the corner of Bernard Avenue and Richter Street. The centre, which opened earlier this month, is set up to assist people living on low incomes. Programs available include weaving, cooking, home and vehicle maintenance. The centre will operate until May on $18,000 made available through the federal government's Local Initiatives program. (Courier photo).

Land Disposal System Studied For Glenmore

The first part of a study on the feasibility of putting sewers in the Glenmore area was authorized Wednesday by the Regional District of Central Okanagan board. Two phases will follow.

Interior Engineering Services were retained last month to develop terms of reference for the study. They estimated it would cost $3,050 for the initial part; a study of the geological feasibility of putting treated effluent into the subsurface.

Professional engineer J. G. S. Hirtle said the board had insisted that no effluent go into Okanagan Lake. If putting effluent into soil proves unfeasible, the study will be carried no further. But, if it is, the next step will be to find what effect this will have on the subsurface environment, and whether all government agencies concerned agree.

The last phase would be estimating the cost of collection and treatment facilities. When regional administrator A. T. Harrison suggested reversing the last two, the engineer suggested it might be premature to decide that now.

Mr. Hirtle estimated 300,000 gallons of sewage a day would be handled. Consideration would be given to all disposal methods. He said the report on the first phase would be ready by April 15.

Board members said they would like some idea then how much the system would cost, so added up to $500 for a rough estimate.

Eoin Lamont, Okanagan Mission director, asked if it would be possible to include the Poplar Point area later. James Stuart, representative for east and southeast Kelowna, quoted several engineering firms as saying this would be one of the most difficult and expensive areas to serve. These opinions were given during an earlier study.

The administration committee will study a suggestion from Okanagan Builders' Land Development, who own property near the study area, to have a combined study made.

In December the company applied to the B.C. Pollution Control Board for permission to build a sewage treatment plant. The board requested further details, and suggested the company ask to participate in the regional district study.

Board chairman W. C. Bennett, who represents Glenmore area, suggested this be studied by the committee.

NOTHING SPECIAL ABOUT THE NFU

The National Farmers' Union "hasn't any special rights and privileges we don't have," Allan Claridge, president of the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association, said today.

Alluding to a story in Wednesday's Courier quoting NFU president, Roy Atkinson as saying his organization had a federal charter giving it the same rights as any other union, Mr. Claridge challenged what he termed an "implication" by Mr. Atkinson that the NFU has special powers not shared by the BCFGA.

"They have no rights or privileges under the charter," Mr. Claridge added.

The special meeting of farmers held at the home of Charles Peschek in Westbank Tuesday was attended by Mr. Atkinson.

SEEN and HEARD

An all-Indian panel tonight will discuss what is wrong with the position of their people today and suggest changes for the future at 8 p.m. at the Kelowna Secondary School. The Indian Today—An Emerging Force, the theme of the panel discussion, will feature Chief Noll Derriksan of the Westbank Indian Council; W. J. Mussell, executive director of the Union of B.C. Indian Chiefs; Deanna Sterling, Indian councillor for the Kelowna School District; Adam Ennas, of the Penticton Indian Council and Jim Cameron, of the Department of Indian Affairs.

The longtime chief magistrate of Peachland will be 60 years old this month. He is, of course, Mayor Harold Thwaite, whose age comments brighten up 540 Groves Avenue when the Regional Board of Central Okanagan is in session. In honor of the auspicious event, board chairman W.C. Bennett presented him with a gift.

Edward Derriksan, grandfather of Westbank Indian Chief, Noll Derriksan, celebrates his 85th birthday today. Mr. Derriksan says his grandfather is as "spry" as a youth and in better physical condition than most men 40 years younger.

But you didn't know there are Mohicans in Kelowna. Just for variety, members of the Sixth Kelowna Cubs decided to change the name to the Sixth Mohicans.

FIRECRACKER DEBATE

'Should Outlaw Halloween'

Halloween should be outlawed, members of the Regional District of Central Okanagan were told Wednesday.

During a debate on whether the district should control selling and discharging firecrackers, M. C. Jennings, who represents the Ellison-Belgo area, described the Oct. 31 festival as a "bunch of nonsense."

Last year the board was asked to investigate passing a fireworks control bylaw. Administrator A. T. Harrison said the B.C. municipal affairs department suggested two adjoining regional districts, north Okanagan and Okanagan-Similkameen, be asked to pass similar bylaws.

Mel Marshall, representative of Rutland, suggested throwing eggs be included. Last Halloween a group of youths damaged a large Rutland store with eggs.

Andrew Duncan, Westbank representative, pointed out electoral area advisory committees were not unanimous on the fireworks control idea.

"The fireworks problem will get worse and worse," cautioned Eoin Lamont, Okanagan Mission representative.

Mr. Jennings agreed with this, but said that, if fireworks are not available, other things would be used. Two questions which should be considered are how could the legislation be policed, and what good would it do?

Kelowna is the only one of the two municipalities in the district that has a fireworks control bylaw. Mayor Hilbert Roth said groups are permitted to hold fireworks displays. It is difficult to police when the goods are being sold near city borders.

Rezoning Proposals Face Regional Board

Although not really enthusiastic about the matter, the Regional District of Central Okanagan approved first reading to a rezoning application for a tent and trailer camp on Deighton Road, off Highway 97.

Discussed at length at the regular meeting of the board Wednesday, the application from Okanagan Land Planning Services Ltd., on behalf of Donald R. Hazelwood, called for rezoning of land from rural to commercial in the specified area.

Rutland director, Mel Marshall, felt the site was better suited to industrial than commercial since there was a railway spur nearby. In agreement, Lakeview Heights director, D. A. Pritchard, warned the board was heading for "serious trouble" in granting the application and felt the board should have a policy governing zoning of the area in question.

City representative, Mayor Hilbert Roth, felt the board needed "that kind of development" in the area since current trailer facilities were "always over-crowded" during summer months. He asked what conditions were "tied" to the application.

Setting him straight, chairman W. C. Bennett reminded the board could not "legally" tie conditions to a rezoning application under the municipal act, and the developer could "put anything in" after the property was rezoned.

WEAKNESS

That weakness was condemned by James Stuart, east and southeast Kelowna director, who said he would like to see the regulations changed so that rezoning was subject to proposal intent. If the developer did not adhere to plan, the property would revert back to its original zoning status. He found agreement in D. A. Pritchard, who described rezoning a "travesty."

Having developers submit proposals which could be subject to public hearing scrutiny was one solution offered by Mr. Stuart. The measure would help counter the danger of developers changing original plans. Mr. Stuart suggested the board pursue the matter further.

with the Association of Regional Districts as well as the minister of municipal affairs.

On another rezoning application, this time for a light industrial park on the Old Vernon Road, the board decided to authorize the administrator to prepare a bylaw designating the area as a development area, and prepare a land use contract.

WAREHOUSE

The application from Lupton Agencies Ltd., called for rezoning of land from rural to industrial for construction of warehousing, sales and service and various structures.

East and southeast Kelowna director, James Stuart, said he was personally opposed to the application, adding he would like to see the land placed in a development area category.

The question of a "conflict of interest" on the topic between directors M. C. Jennings and Mr. Pritchard, was posed by Mayor Roth.

Admitting he had "anticipated" the question, Mr. Jennings assured the meeting he had the "complete confidence" of the advisory planning commission (which he heads) as a member of the regional board. The commission had approved the application.

Mr. Jennings said he had not participated in discussions by the commission members on the application, and had acted as chairman during the meeting attended by Mr. Lupton. He also emphasized he had "no monetary interest" in the application, adding he had "nothing to gain except as a real estate salesman."

WITH SANCTION

Admitting he "may sell a lot" as part of the application, Mr. Jennings declared he was "taking this stand right now" and that he had attended the meeting "as a director for my area" with sanction by commission members.

Mayor Roth clarified there was "nothing personal" in his conflict of interest stand against both men who were each connected with real estate.

Later, Mr. Jennings and Mr. Pritchard absented themselves from the meeting while the board decided how to handle the application.

Break-Ins, Purse Snatching Under Police Investigation

A 17-year-old Kelowna youth has been charged with attempted breaking and entering, following an incident Wednesday night at the Shady Rest Fish and Chip shop on Sutherland Avenue.

Kelly Norman Simpson was arrested after RCMP received a complaint about 9:45 p.m. He appeared before Judge R. J. S. Moir today, pleaded not guilty to the offence and was remanded to April 4 for trial.

In another incident Wednesday, three youths snatched a purse from Mrs. Ellen Ellis as she walked down Coronation Avenue shortly before 10 p.m. Police are still investigating.

A Chase man told RCMP a jack, a small axe, a spare tire, several wrenches, 10 gallons of gas and a bottle of whiskey were stolen from his truck parked outside the Kelowna Auction Dome. The matter is still under investigation.

Police are also investigating a break-in at Mott Building Materials, on Highway 97 overnight. Entry was gained by smashing a window, but nothing was reported missing.

CORD Joins Association

The Regional District of Central Okanagan board has become the last regional district to join the Okanagan Mainline Municipal Association. Wednesday night board members decided to pay $77 per year. This covers electoral areas only, since Kelowna and Peachland already are members.

Andrew Duncan, Westbank representative, said he could not see the value of the OMMMA. Kelowna Mayor Hilbert Roth, an OMMMA executive member, said it provided a means for municipal representatives to get information about other areas.

Cities Have 'Larger Stake' In Future Pollution Control

Representation on the Okanagan Basin Water Board sparked more verbal exchanges Wednesday at the meeting of Central Okanagan district directors.

Most of the fireworks revolved around city representative Mayor Hilbert Roth, and James Stuart, south and southeast Kelowna director.

The fuse was a letter to the regional board by the basin body requesting consideration for a change in the current representation of two from each regional district, to three representatives for a one-year term of office.

Discussion began innocently with a motion by Ellison-Belgo director, M. C. Jennings, approving the recommendation, but the request was opposed by Peachland Mayor Harold Thwaite who felt increasing representation would not contribute to the board.

The letter from the basin board also alluded to the fact that "several urban representatives felt the board should have greater representation from major urban centres throughout the valley."

The matter of city representation on the basin board had been heatedly pursued by Mayor Roth at a basin board meeting last fall.

The contentious subject came up again at the last meeting of the basin board where the thought was expressed that the three major centres of Kelowna, Penticton and Vernon should be represented.

Alluding to this, Rutland director, Mel Marshall, observed it appeared the three mayors of those cities had banded together to seek board representation, adding he was "not opposed" to increased representation on the water board although it would not guarantee such appointees would represent the three major centres concerned.

Regional board chairman, W. C. Bennett, reminded any representative appointed to the basin board by the regional district represented the district "as a whole."

All for urban representation, Mayor Roth said the three centres concerned had a "larger stake," adding Kelowna could spend about $2 million for pollution control if the current Okanagan Basin water study being conducted by the provincial-federal governments recommended such a move.

Removal of sewage outfalls in Okanagan Lake could precipitate expenditure of another $2 million for the city, Mayor Roth emphasized.

He told the meeting the three major urban areas represented "over half" the population in the watershed, and therefore had a "bigger stake" in the basin board.

Not From Specific Areas

"We want direct representation," Mayor Roth declared, adding the request was a "fair" one. Chairman Bennett countered with the observation that he did not think provincial authorities would accept representation from a specific area on the basin board.

The regional district is currently represented by two members from each of the three regional districts for a voting voice of six.

Opposed to direct representation on the basin board, Mr. Stuart added members of that body "all have to work together" and was against a single group having direct representation on the board.

He also disagreed with Mayor Roth's claim that urban centres had a larger stake in the deliberations of the basin board. He added there were "as many people" in outside boundaries as within who had "just as much money" invested in water interests.

"We're trying to represent all the people in the area," Mr. Stuart stressed, adding outside areas paid 60 per cent of the water board budget and could, with Mayor Roth's theory, ask for commensurate representation on the board.

At one point, challenged by Mayor Roth as to how many people there were in outside areas, Mr. Stuart said if the speaker could prove him wrong, he would resign from the board.

Mayor Roth had earlier warned the board would not get the co-operation of urban centres unless they had representation. He added urban centres would "not give up lightly" and reiterated major centres needed more representation.

Following further verbal fluffs, the original motion by Mr. Jenkins was approved for changing of supplementary letters patent to provide for the extra representation.

Meanwhile, Kelowna representation on the regional board itself may soon be discussed by the board. The city currently has a voting strength of four through Mayor Hilbert Roth, and the board agreed to study the matter further when results of the 1971 census is known next month.

Chairman Bennett asked members to discuss the question with electoral area advisory commission representatives.

Father Pandosy Mission Gets $3,000 District Grants Policy Is Challenged

Local Canadians received a helping hand from the Regional District of Central Okanagan in the form of a $3,000 grant.

Not usually receptive to monetary requests, the board approved a request from the Okanagan Historical Society for financial assistance to the Father Pandosy Mission.

In a letter to the board, C. D. Cameron, chairman of the society's Father Pandosy Restoration Committee, said the money would be used for renovation and construction of caretaker quarters at the site and the funds would also allow the committee to acquire a matching grant from the provincial government "promised to us for the immediate budget."

Mr. Cameron added completion of the caretaker quarters was "priority number one" this year, designed to "ensure the protection" of priceless historical items already at the site. With a caretaker living at the Mission, the society would be in a position to charge admission, thus helping the project become self-supporting, the letter added.

Explaining the urgency of the matter, Mr. Cameron noted the deadline for a matching grant request was Feb. 29 and asked the board for a letter of intent to submit to the provincial government relative to the promised matching grant.

Admitting he was "not quick to give out grants," James Stuart said this was "a case where one grant may do some good" and he was willing to go along with the request. The board agreed.

Not happy with the board's general policy on grant submissions, Okanagan Mission director, Eoin Lamont, proposed in a prepared resolution, that all grant-in-aid requests be submitted by Sept. 30 this year. Grants requests "deemed worthy" by priority would then be considered by the board.

Terming the system superior to the current policy, Mr. Lamont said grants-in-aid were "difficult to deliberate" and it was "better" they all be placed before the board by a certain date.

Chairman W. C. Bennett suggested the proposal be studied by the administrative committee for a recommendation at a later date.

Peachland Mayor Harold Thwaite, suggested such contingencies be included in the budget. "We don't need grants-in-aid," he added. Mr. Lamont reiterated his proposal was a better way to handle the situation.

In agreement with Mayor Thwaite, Westbank director, Andrew Duncan said Mr. Lamont's scheme would be an "open invitation to anyone" to submit a grant-in-aid request.

The matter was finally settled by Mayor Thwaite with the suggestion the subject be studied by the administrative committee.

In other business, the board approved the appointment of Val Rampone and Mel Marshall to a joint meeting with the city

Brundage's Amateurism Affects Free Countries

Avery Brundage, the 85-year-old president of the International Olympic Committee, has been accused of many things but never of being weak-willed. The American patriarch of amateurism, said to be in his last year as head of the IOC, stands fast on his ruling about total absence of commercialism in the Olympics. This year Karl Schranz and the Austrian ski team felt his bite.

The policy that Brundage affects is one-sided, affecting the "free" countries but not touching the Iron Curtain nations who have a different method of sponsoring their athletes in international events.

It has been known for a long time that the Russian athletes receive army jobs with special bonuses for service to their state, and these bonuses are hinged on their effectiveness in international competitions.

Nancy Greene Raine, who recently made a visit to Kelowna, threw a little more light on the situation, saying that Russian factories have athletic equipment for the use of their employees.

Nancy, formerly Canada's ski queen, also stated that all the Russian athletes hold down responsible positions and do their jobs well. How many athletes in other countries can afford to take the time off their jobs and get as much expense money as those from the Iron Curtain countries?

An East German figure skating champion, Guenter Zoeller, has confessed that he and other East German athletes draw generous financial support from the state for their "work". This admission makes a farce of Brundage's strict rules on amateurism.

Brundage was quick to notice a picture of Karl Schranz with a sweater advertising a coffee brand, but he hasn't been so quick to investigate the policies used by Iron Curtain nations towards their athletes.

A direct confrontation between Brundage and Canada resulted in Canada dropping out of international hockey competition. Hockey Canada has relented from its strict stand at first and now minor teams are allowed to travel to European countries for competitions, but the national team has been disbanded and will stay that way.

Canada's question on using professionals was agreed upon and ratified by the World Hockey Association, but WHA president Bunny Ahearne wasn't about to stand up against a levelled threat by Brundage.

Brundage stated that any team playing against Canada's pros would run the risk of becoming ineligible for Olympic competition. This threat resulted in Canada's absence.

There is still commercialism tainting the Olympics, and Canada isn't taking a back seat in bending the rules. A bank has a handy deposit for the Canadian ski team, and while you are there you can make a deposit.

Another ploy is a company which donates one cent to the Canadian ski team every time one of their items is sold. Both of these are commercial ventures, but Brundage can't touch them because no individual is gaining.

It seems that this method of getting around the commercialism question is the only way, other than the handsome reward systems that are used by Iron Curtain countries.

The whole question of commercialism in the Olympic Games is becoming a little absurd. Special camera angles have to be used on the ski jumping competitions so that they don't pick up the brand names, and an athlete got into trouble because he showed a brand name on his skis while being interviewed after a competition.

The Winter Games face the brunt of Brundage's idealism, because the athletes all-too-frequently get enmeshed in commercialism.

There was no distinction between amateurs and professionals in the original Olympics, fostered by the Greeks as a religious ceremony. The athletes represented their cities, and honor was bestowed upon their homeland through their efforts.

Those athletes winning a laurel wreath, with the same significance of a gold medal, were suitably rewarded for their performances by their cities. A laurel wreath was a guarantee of a life of ease and comparative wealth.

Canada's performance in the 1972 Sapporo Games wasn't brilliant, with one medal and that a silver in figure skating. It might be different if the amateurism code was relaxed.

It might be true, as Schranz stated before his suspension, that Mr. Brundage has lost the spirit of the Olympics in his tireless pursuit of amateurism.

Phenomena In Plants

(Victoria Times)

What used to be a laughing matter may become a serious scientific matter. That is the least sensational conclusion from the work of Mr. Cleve Backster, an American lie-detector expert, who has been investigating psychic phenomena in plants, among other things. Mr. Backster used to be in the business of training police personnel and other investigators to use lie-detecting devices.

One day in 1966 he decided to see if the leaves of a plant after it had been watered would register on his emotional detection machine. The polygraph did register a pattern similar to that of a person under emotional stimulation. Then, to see if the plant would react to threats against it, he thought of burning a leaf with a match. But, according to Mr. Backster, as soon as he had the image of fire in his mind "the recording pen bounded right off the top of the chart."

His experiments have widened and on one occasion electrodes were placed on the leaves of plants which had "witnessed" a crime in an effort to detect the criminal.

One official, whose Foundation is supporting Mr. Backster's work, suggests that "there may be a primary form of instantaneous communication among all living things that transcends the physical laws we know now." It is difficult not to wonder, after examining the Wall Street Journal's account, if feelings and even thought itself may not be limited to the higher animals.

CANADA'S STORY

West Coast Indians Great Men In Canoe

By BOB BOWMAN

Canadian Indians have long been recognized as some of the best canoeists in the world. Pictures and paintings usually show eastern Indians carrying or paddling their birch-bark canoes. They also made them of elm and other materials.

Eastern Canadian Indians have held the limelight and the skill of the West-Coast Indians for Seattle when it was driven by strong winds into the breakers off Cape Flattery. The crew managed to get on to a rock where they were marooned for two days in danger of freezing to death.

Their exploits have often taken place on the rough water of the Pacific Ocean, off Queen Charlotte and Vancouver Islands.

One example took place in January 1802. An American ship, General Cobb, of 648 tons was sailing from San Francisco for Seattle when it was driven by strong winds into the breakers off Cape Flattery. The crew managed to get on to a rock where they were marooned for two days in danger of freezing to death.

Fortunately, they were seen by three Clayquot Indians who rounded up 11 more men and a heavy "dugout" canoe, and went to their rescue. It took seamanship of the highest calibre and courage to get the men off the rock and back to shore.

Then the Indians gave the men enough money to get to Seattle.

They were rewarded Feb. 17, 1880, when they were presented with the United States Gold Medal by authority of President Garfield.

A somewhat similar rescue was performed by Hesquiat Indians in 1874. They received a silver medal from the government of Canada, and a cash award from the U.S. for saving the lives of a crew of a ship wrecked on Cape Flattery. The ship was carrying lumber and it was salvaged and used to build the Hesquiat mission church.

OTHER FEB. 17 EVENTS:
1759—General Wolfe sailed from Britain to capture Quebec.
1869—Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals organized.

1881—Canadian Pacific Railway organized with George Stephen as President.

1919—Death of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Canada's first French-speaking prime minister.

A CREEKSIDE SCENE

Among the 80 persons enjoying the second annual 'Time Out' program of arts and crafts sponsored by the St. Paul United Church Women are 18 enrolled in the oil painting classes. The students, all women, range in ages from young mothers to middle-aged and senior citizens. Mrs. A. B. Reynolds, standing, who has taught the class the past two winters, encourages her students to enjoy painting whatever they like. Scenery and flowers are two favorite subjects. One of the basics she teaches the

Life Begins At 40 Lectures Draw Enthusiastic Crowd

An enthusiastic audience attended the recent Life Begins at 40, a lecture-discussion on the female menopause. The audience was composed of a varied age group and included interested men and women. No question was left unanswered by the well-informed panel consisting of: Dr. A. R. Roundhill, a graduate from Ireland, having practiced in Africa, who is now practising at Windfield; Dr. Barbara Massey, a graduate in Toronto presently at the Knox clinic and Ish Holmes, a psychiatrist social worker having graduated from the University of British Columbia. Dr. N.-D. Royle, gynecologist, an English graduate who joined the Underhill clinic after practising at the Vancouver General Hospital, was also a panelist.

The program was very ably organized by Mrs. Betty Warner and chaired by Mrs. R. J. Clarke, both of whom are members of the Kelowna Chapter of Registered Nurses Association of British Columbia. The lecture was co-sponsored by the Adult Education Division of School District No. 23 and the Kelowna Chapter.

CHANGES
Dr. Roundhill spoke on the topic, Why the Menopause? He defined the milestones of the female life cycle as being puberty, pregnancy and menopause.

The menopause is the termination of the menses due to the cessation of the ovarian function. With the ending of ovarian function there is a decrease in the production of the hormone estrogen. Due to this decrease, numerous changes occur in the female body.

Dr. Massey went on to describe the changes which occur in 50 per cent of North American women between the ages of 45-50 years. These include: 1. A disturbed mental pattern; 2. Vaso motor manifestations such as flushes, numbness, headaches, fainting and vertigo; 3. Factor of aging, including fatigue, dry skin, loss of hair, brittle nails, weight gain, depression, insomnia and joint pain and finally, 4. Psychosomatic complaints such as nervousness, apprehension, instability, melancholia and a varied concentration span. She went on to say that 20 per cent of women complain only of amenorrhea (termination of menses); 20 per cent need intensive treatment and the rest have varied degrees of the preceding signs.

EMOTIONAL
Mr. Holmes spoke on coping with the emotional aspects of the menopause. He suggested that there be conscious preparation for this milestone much as people make for their retirement. During this time period there are great changes in the roles of woman, wife and mother.

Women erroneously feel they are no longer feminine as they have been lead to believe that with the onset of menses comes womanhood, and thus deduce that with the menopause their womanhood is lost. Also some women suffer from the 'empty nest' syndrome, as their children have grown up and moved away from home. Finally comes the feeling of being taken for granted. This is a time for great understanding and patience on the part of the husband and if communication is lacking, problems may arise. Feelings of guilt may also appear as the woman may feel she can't or shouldn't enjoy herself as a woman. However, more problems are created by worrying than by actual inadequacies.

TREATMENT
Dr. Royle terminated the lecture by defining the treatment of the menopause. Of great importance is the actual diagnosis, making sure that the symptoms are in fact that of the menopause. The doctor may order hormone medication either in the form of tablets or injection to replace the lacking hormone estrogen. Sometimes it may be only a matter of explanation and guidance or there may be a need for tranquilizers or sedation. He went on to say that with the loss of elasticity of muscles, especially abdominal muscles, there may develop what is known as a prolapse of the uterus or rectum and these would necessitate surgical repair.

This ended the lecture segment of the evening, the audience were then able to have their individual questions answered by the panel members.

T.O.P.S. Members Win Charms

A weigh-in and Valentine party was enjoyed by 23 members of the British Columbia 1332 Kelowna branch of Take Off Pounds Sensibly, formerly Ogopogo T.O.P.S., on Monday night at the home of Mrs. John Purtych. The first two members to earn the Kops In Waiting awards received their KIW charms for reaching their weight goal prescribed by their doctors.

Two members also received charms for not gaining since joining T.O.P.S.

Since the first of January 23 members have lost 91½ pounds and they are trying hard to win the floating plaque for the best average loss from Jan. 1 to March 31. All T.O.P.S. clubs in Kelowna area are competing. B.C. 1332 won the plaque for an average loss of five and one-seventh pounds in the period from Oct. 1 to Dec. 31. All T.O.P.S. members are looking forward to the provincial recognition day at Penticton on April 22.

Engagements Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Schmidt of Rutland are pleased to announce the forthcoming marriage of their youngest daughter, Delores Yvonne to Oscar Banziger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Banziger of Kelowna. The wedding will take place on March 11 at Christ Evangelical Lutheran Church, Kelowna.

HITHER and YON

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hilborn of Water Street enjoyed a weekend in the state of Washington, with stops at Spokane and Wenatchee.

It seems as if half of Kelowna migrated to the Hawaiian Islands during the past month. Three couples just back from their first visit to the Pacific resorts are Mr. and Mrs. Art Stuerle, Mr. and Mrs. Adolphe Stuerle and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Tisher, all of Kelowna, who report meeting many Kelowna citizens there. During their two week vacation they visited Maui, Kuai and also enjoyed the beaches at Waikiki. Points of interest were the volcano site, a pineapple plantation and orchids.

A Polynesian Revue featuring native singers and dancers from the various Pacific ethnic groups, was one of the most interesting features of a two week holiday enjoyed by a Kelowna foursome, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Burnett and Mr. and Mrs. Basil Jennens. They also visited the sea life display of performing dolphins and whales and of course enjoyed the lovely flowers and scenery.

Another couple who reported meeting many residents from Kelowna while holidaying on the main island, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Bregolis of Lawrence Avenue enjoyed the beautiful climate and scenery during their three weeks.

Another pair of holidayers, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Brodie of Pandosy Street are back from a three months vacation in Australia, New Zealand, Fiji and Hawaii. They spent Christmas with their son David and Mrs. Brodie and family at Sydney. They also toured New Zealand, seeing Mt. Cooke, Christ Church and Wucenstown in New Zealand and visited Melbourne in Australia. They liked New Zealand best, finding it more like the Valley.

B.C. Family Relations Act Amended Common-Law Marriages Recognized

VICTORIA (CP)—The British Columbia government Tuesday introduced legislation to recognize common-law marriages and to give husbands the opportunity to claim alimony from their wives.

Attorney-General Leslie Peterson tabled amendments to the Family Relations Act which will place men and women on an equal footing as far as maintenance payments are concerned. Under present B.C. law, only the wife can claim such payments from her husband.

The bill would repeal four other provincial acts governing various aspects of family law and replace sections of several other bills.

Family courts would be given the job of handling maintenance or support applications from broken marriages, which now have to be taken to the B.C. Supreme Court, and would have the power to issue arrest warrants to ensure a spouse's appearance in court.

"The bill will codify the law relating to matrimonial and family relations for the first time in British Columbia," Mr. Peterson told the legislature. The bill expands the definition of spouse—a term formerly applied only to women—so that "now the male spouse will be able to apply for maintenance."

ANN LANDERS

TV Repairmen Costly Companions

Dear Ann Landers: Am I right needs more help than I can give her in one letter. Get some professional counselling and find out why you are a compulsive verbal harpoonist and what to do about it. The first step toward a cure is to discover the cause.

About five weeks ago the TV broke down. I called the repairman. He came that same day—a handsome young fellow about 10 years younger than myself. I visited with him while he worked on the set. It took about 20 minutes. Then I offered him a cold beer. We sat at the kitchen table and talked. I must say I enjoyed his company. His visit cost $16.

Two weeks later I got to thinking about that fellow again so I pulled out a few wires, twisted a couple of tubes and put the TV out of commission. He came over that same afternoon and we had another nice visit. The repair bill was $11.

I did the same thing yesterday, Ann. But this time they sent another man. He wasn't my type. I felt like a fool. I also was mad. He charged me $13 and there wasn't a darned thing wrong with the set. Now when I think of what I've done I wonder if I'm cuckoo. What do you think?—Brunhild

Dear Brun: I think you've got a bat or two in the belfry, dearie. You must also be pretty rich to afford such high-priced company. What you really need is something to occupy your time. Get a hobby.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 25 and a few months ago I married for the second time. My husband is 13 years older than I am, a wonderful person, and I want this marriage to work so much I can hardly stand it. But I have a problem. It's me and my big mouth.

I pop off, criticize, get mean and vindictive and then I hate myself five minutes later. It seems like whatever comes into my head goes out of my mouth. I am so afraid I'll ruin this marriage that I'm a nervous wreck. What is wrong with people who can't control what they say?—Loud Mouthed and Miserable

Dear L. M. and M.: A woman who is 25 and already in trouble with her second marriage.

Voodoos, Owls Key Contest Both Vying For Division Lead

The Okanagan Senior AA Boys' Basketball League has come down to a two-way tie, and a weekend to decide the top team in the southern division.

Rutland Voodoos can wrap up the division crown with a win Friday night against Kelowna Owls at 8 p.m. at Kelowna Secondary School as the cross-town rivals meet.

Voodoos have two games left this season, and their other match is against lowly Oliver Hornets. They hold an 8-2 record, two wins better than Owls. Owls will have to defeat Voodoos by an eight point margin to win the title.

A win by Voodoos Friday night will finish the race, but if Owls can take Voodoos by more than eight points and win their final two games of the season, the teams will be tied and the Kelowna squad will win the title because of point for and against.

The playoff race earlier in the season was shaping up to be a duel between Lakers and Voodoos, but the Pentiction squad hit some bad times and have lost four of their 10 games, with Owls rolling up a 6-3 record after a poor start.

Vernon Panthers are fourth in the league, with six wins and five setbacks.

The regional playoffs will be played next weekend at the home of the first place team, with the top four teams in the division playing off. The winner of the championship round, and a second team decided between the consolation winner and the championship finalist, will enter Valley finals to be held at KSS.

A junior boys' game prior to the main event will feature a battle between Rutland and Kelowna for third and fourth place. A key game is deciding third place in junior girls' action at 6 p.m. will pit third place Kelowna against challenging Rutland.

There will be more basketball action Saturday at KSS, as a Grade 8 boys' and girls' tournament will be held. First games in the girls' tourney match Rutland against Knox at 9:30 a.m. and KLO against George Pringle at 10:30 a.m.

KSS will meet Knox in the first game of the boys' meet at 11:30 a.m. with KLO going against Rutland in the final game of the opening round at 12:30 p.m.

Games Saturday at George Pringle will decide the senior A boys' and girls' titles. George Pringle leads the boys' league with eight wins in nine games, while Immaculata has won seven of 10 contests. Rutland has a 5-3 record to compare with 3-7 mark of Knox. George Elliot has won two of 10 games with KSS losing all eight of their matches.

Immaculata has rolled up a perfect 8-0 girls' record to lead that loop, six points ahead of Knox at 5-2. George Elliot is third at 3-5. Rutland has a 2-5 record for four points with George Pringle two behind with one win and seven losses.

Knox has had their own way in junior boys' action, with nine straight wins for first place. KLO follows closely with eight wins and a single setback for second place. Third is Rutland, boasting a 4-4 record, with George Pringle tied with three wins each, although Elliot has played two more games and KSS one more than Pringle. Immaculata brings up the rear with two wins and seven losses.

KLO has built up a healthy lead in junior girls' action, with 20 points on 10 wins and a loss. KSS and Rutland are tied for second with 12 points each with Elliot third with a 5-4 record. Knox has eight points on four wins and five losses, with Pringle carrying a 2-7 record third place in junior girls' action at 6 p.m. will pit third

Mental Preparation Starting For World Cup Competition

BANFF, Alta. (CP) — Sixty-nine of the world's top skiers were getting themselves in shape mentally for the resumption of World Cup competition today after a break for the Winter Olympics in Japan.

The last meet was Jan. 24 in Switzerland and the next meet is at Crystal Mountain, Wash., Feb. 26-27.

The 69 are the starters in the first run of the men's giant slalom—the only race scheduled for today on the steep slopes of Mount Norquay. The second run will be held Friday after the two runs of the women's slalom.

The meet ends Saturday with a one-run women's giant slalom and the two runs of the men's slalom.

Gary Grant led Knox to a 59-41 junior boys win with 16 points. Bill Prytula added 12 points while Rod Schneider, with 13 points, and Harry Grub with 10 replied for Rutland.

The closest game of the set was in grade eight boys action, with Knox claiming a 30-29 victory. Murray Chalmers led Knox to the win with 11 points, with A. Yaciansky the top scorer in the game with 16 points in a losing effort.

Series leader Henri Duvillard of France is 14th on the starting list for the 41-game course.

A special men's giant slalom originally scheduled for today has been cancelled because of hill conditions.

The area, easily visible from Banff, received an unexpected two feet of fresh snow Tuesday night and officials felt that course preparation for a second men's giant slalom would take too much time.

A second giant slalom was made necessary when race organizers at Val Gardena, Italy, decided to hold a downhill on March 15 instead of a giant slalom.

Duvillard, however, is expected to do well despite his seeding because the course should not be badly chopped up by the time he starts.

Second-place Jean-Noel Augert, also of France, starts sixth and fourth-place Gustavo Thoeni of Italy, a gold medalist at Sapporo, Japan, starts eighth. Third-place in the standings is held by Austria's Karl Schranz, now retired from competition.

Duvillard has 97 points, Augert 94, Schranz 83 and Thoeni 87.

Other Teams Are Muttering Buckaroos Now Are Winning

KAMLOOPS—Kelowna Buckaroos, for a while the joke of the league, have some teams muttering out of the other side of their mouths as they continue their press for a playoff berth in the B.C. Junior Hockey League.

Buckaroos tripped Kamloops Rockets 3-2 Wednesday night for their fourth win in five games, with the fifth coming out a tie, and moved to within eight points of a playoff position. Bucks now have 37 points, one behind fifth place Richmond Centennials and trailing eight behind Rockets, who have the fourth and final playoff berth.

Bucks, who haven't won on Kamloops ice this season until Wednesday, will meet Rockets Friday at 8:30 p.m. at Memorial Arena in a key contest for both teams. Bucks are at home against Chilliwack Bruins Saturday night in another 8:30 p.m. contest.

Dave Okrainic, Murray Hanson and Gord Neilson tallied for Buckaroos, with Ken Gassoff and Rick Hodgson replying for Rockets.

The visiting Bucks took a 1-0 lead after the first period and went into the third stanza holding a 3-1 lead.

Although the game was a key one for both teams, they played the first period as though they wanted to give up the game to the opposition. Rockets were inept around the Kelowna net, getting away only a couple of shots on Buck netminder Ron Bourcier.

Bucks weren't all that much better, although they did give Garth Malarchuk some trouble with a couple of shots.

It looked as if neither team would be able to break out with a scoring play, until Okrainic came through with only 25 seconds left in the period. He took a pass from Hanson and tried a weak shot on Malarchuk.

The canny Kamloops goalie moved out well to block the shot, but was unable to stop Okrainic as he reached back and tucked the rebound into the net.

Both teams opened up in the second period, and Kelowna struck twice before Rockets were able to get untracked. Hanson slapped in a loose puck that had come off the boards and over Malarchuk's stick to make it 2-0 and Neilson applied the crusher with what turned out to be the winning goal at 11:26.

Neilson's goal came on a low screen shot from 15 feet in front of the net, with Malarchuk having no chance to make a save on the play.

Bourcier lost his shutout hopes as Gassoff slipped the puck inside the post at 14:04.

Hodgson made it exciting, with a power play goal scored from the point while Ken Selinger was off for Bucks for slashing.

Rockets dominated the play from their second goal to the final horn, but Bourcier made some key saves from point blank range and Okrainic turned in a steady defensive game to maintain the one-goal Kelowna margin.

Bucks' Brad Robson came out of the game a little sorer than he went in, after catching teammate Bruce Gerlach's stick across the nose. Gerlach was hit and his stick struck Robson in the face in the second period. Robson had to leave the game momentarily for repairs.

Forward Ken Weninger was out of the game with his arm in a sling. Weninger was injured in a game Sunday against Vernon Essos, and will be missing from the Buckaroo line up for an undetermined period of time.

Jeff Robson, utility forward, took his spot on the line with Hanson and Archie McKinnon. Ferry Head, captain of the Kelowna Packers' juvenile team, was brought up for the game but didn't see too much action.

Ice Chips—A lively and loud contingent of Kelowna fans made the trip to see the game ... there seems to be an avid core of Buckaroo fans who travel with the team to cheer them on ... one of the unheralded members of the team should come in for a bit of mention ... trainer Charlie Hodge, and his tape and towel brigade are noticeable additions to the team ... Bruce Gerlach didn't make the trip down to Kamloops with his team ... he did it a bit differently and made the trip via Calgary, where he picked up his sister ... Gerlach apparently nearly missed the game because of the slides in Rogers Pass that have been tying up traffic, it was that close ... the largest turnout of the season is expected for Friday's game ... more than 1,300 fans turned out Sunday and more will follow now that Bucks are on a hot streak ... their four wins and a tie is the best consecutive record they have, however ... it is always a moot point about the goal judges, who count the shots on net for the games ... it was estimated that Rockets had two shots on Bourcier in the first period, but the official mark was seven ... Bourcier was listed as having made 37 saves, while Malarchuk was put down for 28 saves.

AUTO REPAIR QUALITY PROGRAM

You're involved in your first motor vehicle accident — it wasn't your fault and fortunately no one was injured.

But now you must get involved in that tricky business of getting your car repaired. Who do you trust to do the repair work? Selecting a collision repair shop for most people is a game.

Your brother-in-law suggests one firm, the neighbour across the street suggests another and your insurance agent suggests still another repair shop.

You've heard stories from friends who used various auto body shops and later discovered the work unsatisfactory. The paint started to peel after a couple of months or the general workmanship was shoddy. They took their car back to the shop to be informed by the boss that there was nothing he could or would do about it.

Well, the game is over. A new program instituted by the Automotive Retailers Association should help to make the problem of collision repairs less of a game. Now you have the choice of taking your business to a group in the auto body repair industry which guarantees its work and polices its own members — at no expense to you, the motorist.

The new program is called the Certified Body Shop program. ARA has about 1,500 members in their association including service stations, towing operators and the body shops.

Body shops account for about 300 member firms and roughly half of these firms have applied for and been accepted for the new certified program. Eleven of the North Shore's 25-odd collision shops are participating in the new program.

Two of these are located in West Vancouver and nine in North Vancouver.

The certified company participating may be found on page 20 of the N.S. Yellow Pages in a block listing.

The certified shop program was created with three objectives in mind—upgrade the industry, improve the public image and confidence in body shops, and most important, to give the motorist, after better quality service to the public.

GUARANTEED WORKMANSHIP
To further upgrade their industry the Certified group has formed a grievance committee to handle insurance or public complaints. ARA members displaying the Certified Body Shop sign, guarantee their work and this is backed up by the association to ensure that all valid complaints are rectified at no cost to the customer.

"The association will police its own members," said Don Dean, president of Don Dean Collision Ltd., and veteran ARA member. "If one of our Certified Shops is out of line in any way, we have the machinery to see that the complaint receives prompt and efficient action."

Dean cited a recent situation involving two certified shops in Langley, who were accused of unethical business practices. An ARA Committee investigated the complaint, found it justified and therefore de-certified the two firms for a period of one year. "The motoring public must be able to deal with a Certified Shop in complete confidence," Dean added.

Briefly, this is how the Certified Shop program works. It covers only ARA Certified Body Shop members. What happens if you are not satisfied with the repair work performed on your vehicle by a Certified Shop? If you're not completely satisfied with the work, take your car back to the shop. If your complaint is valid, the ARA member shop should correct it without cost.

What can be done if the Certified Shop won't make an adjustment? If the member gives you no satisfaction, put your complaint in writing to the Automotive Retailers Association, 1687 West Broadway, Vancouver 9, B.C.

The ARA will review your complaint, inspect your vehicle and contact the member shop who performed the work.

If both ARA and the member feel that the nature of the complaint is unreasonable, an independent appraiser will be engaged to review the complaint and the association will abide by the appraiser's report and recommendations. Insurance agents and adjusters will sometimes insist that a vehicle be repaired at one of their "approved" shops. What does ARA feel about this practice?

It does happen, but it is the exception rather than the rule. Most insurance companies respect the owner's right to have his vehicle repaired at the shop of his choice. The customer should take his car to the shop he prefers.

How many estimates must I obtain if I am claiming against my insurance? Although some insurance companies will ask for three estimates, it is not mandatory to get more than one estimate of repairs, unless your policy specifically calls for more. An insurance company does not have the right to insist that you shop around for a "lower estimate." Price alone is never the determining factor.

My insurance company is covering the cost of repairs to my vehicle, but I have received an invoice from the body shop. Who is responsible for paying the account? Ultimately, the owner of the vehicle is responsible for payment of the account. It is a common practice however for the auto body shop to forward a copy of the final billing, as a convenience to its customers. But the ultimate responsibility rests with the owner. If you have received an invoice from the shop, it may mean that your insurance company has not yet paid the account. We suggest you contact the insurance company to determine if anything is holding up payment of the account.

Will an ARA Certified Shop do all the work a customer wants done? If the customer is paying the account himself, he'll get the work done. If an insurance company is paying for the work on your behalf, the shop may only complete what the insurance company has approved. We assume however that the insurance adjuster will discuss the situation with the owner and between them will agree on the extent of repairs, etc.

Consumerism is starting to benefit the customer. The new Certified Body Shop group was formed to weed out the unethical fly by night operator. An ARA spokesman said that some back alley shops will continue to operate, but the motoring public now has a group of shops where they can deal with complete confidence. He pointed out that this did not suggest that a shop who is not an ARA Certified Member is unethical or dishonest. The point is however, most reputable repair firms will sooner or later want to be members of the new Certified Group.

Home Courts Are Fine For Knox But Rough On Visiting Rutland

Dr. Knox basketball teams like the familiarity of home courts, while Rutland teams don't seem to care much for playing the part of the visitor.

Knox teams took three wins away from visiting Rutland in a four-game set Wednesday.

The only game Rutland was able to win was a 66-38 senior boys triumph. Rutland followed an 18 point production by Tim Murphy and 16 points from Bill Lang. Rick Emery had 14 points for the losers with another 10 from Ken Yochim.

Knox senior girls trimmed Rutland 26-22 in senior girls action. Lynn Hilton led the Knox scorers with eight points while Rita Bruniski and Pat Ponich shared second scoring honors with six points each. Loralee Barnes had eight points for Rutland, with seven-point efforts from Cheryl Charlton and Janice Buchner.

Gary Grant led Knox to a 59-41 junior boys win with 16 points. Bill Prytula added 12 points while Rod Schneider, with 13 points, and Harry Grub with 10 replied for Rutland.

The closest game of the set was in grade eight boys action, with Knox claiming a 30-29 victory. Murray Chalmers led Knox to the win with 11 points, with A. Yaciansky the top scorer in the game with 16 points in a losing effort.

Series leader Henri Duvillard of France is 14th on the starting list for the 41-game course.

A special men's giant slalom originally scheduled for today has been cancelled because of hill conditions.

The area, easily visible from Banff, received an unexpected two feet of fresh snow Tuesday night and officials felt that course preparation for a second men's giant slalom would take too much time.

A second giant slalom was made necessary when race organizers at Val Gardena, Italy, decided to hold a downhill on March 15 instead of a giant slalom.

Duvillard, however, is expected to do well despite his seeding because the course should not be badly chopped up by the time he starts.

Second-place Jean-Noel Augert, also of France, starts sixth and fourth-place Gustavo Thoeni of Italy, a gold medalist at Sapporo, Japan, starts eighth. Third-place in the standings is held by Austria's Karl Schranz, now retired from competition.

Duvillard has 97 points, Augert 94, Schranz 83 and Thoeni 87.

Rating System For Players Misleading Says Statistician

MONTREAL (CP) — The "plus-minus" system of rating a hockey player often inflates or depreciates a player's worth out of proportion, and should be changed to a percentage system, Ron Andrews, the National Hockey League's chief statistician, said Tuesday.

Andrews, who hopes to convince league members that the method should be replaced, said the great flaw in the existing "plus-minus" system is that it does not take into consideration the goals-for-and-against of team when assessing an individual player.

For instance, Bobby Orr of the Boston Bruins is currently plus 54, meaning that when he has been on the ice, Boston has scored 54 more goals than the opposition. Only goals scored when both teams are at even strength are taken into account.

The same method of evaluating a player gives Richard Martin, Buffalo Sabres' explosive rookie, a minus 34 rating, which tied team-mate Gilbert Perreault's record for rookies.

Boston has outscored the opposition 228-123 while the Sabres have been bombed 214-151. Andrews believes that the team record should be taken into account when the individual's performance is assessed.

PROPOSES SYSTEM

He proposed the percentage system, "a much fairer way of assessing a player's worth statistically."

Andrews' proposed system involves calculating the difference between the percentage of a player's goals-for to his team's goals-for and the percentage of the player's goals-against to the team's goals-against.

The percentage system would provide a "much more meaningful" evaluation of an individual player, he said.

For example, Bobby Orr, who had the league's best "plus-minus" record last season with a plus 124, would have had a plus 20.4 per cent using the percentage system.

Doug Roberts of the California Golden Seals, had a minus 56 record last season but would have had a minus 7.2 per cent if Andrews' method was used.

ADJUSTMENTS NEEDED

"There would have to be a few adjustments," Andrews said. "If a player missed a few games, the total goals of the team would have to be deducted for the ones he wasn't playing."

"I've spoken to a few people about the system and Scotty Bowman, Montreal Canadiens' coach (and Hal Laycoe) Vancouver Canucks coach are very enthusiastic about it."

However, Andrews is less sure about some players, who have a lot of bonus clauses based on the plus-minus system, and some of the coaches and general managers, who might say he was trying to "baffle them with statistics."

McKinnie Goes To Tiger-Cats

REGINA (CP) — Silas McKinnie, a veteran halfback with Saskatchewan Roughriders, has been traded to Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Eastern Football Conference for a veteran and two rookie players, the Western Conference team announced today.

The Roughriders received veteran John Reid, a six-foot-four, 225-pound centre, and rookie defensive backs Ivan Morten and Dave Clarke in the trade. Hamilton also got Saskatchewan's first choice in last week's Canadian college draft.

McKinnie, a six-foot-two, 210-pound halfback who joined the Roughriders four years ago, played out his option with the team last year.

Ed Gee Loses Provincial Title

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP) — Defending Canadian champion Moe Hill of Victoria defeated Ed Gee of Nelson 10-6 and 9-7 Tuesday to win the British Columbia Police curling championship.

Hill's rink now travels to Hamilton, Ont. for the championships final March 11-15. Other members of the rink are lead Neil Dickson, second Dave Wilson and third Wayne Dew.

Gee had coasted into the final undefeated in the two-day, double knockout tournament, beating Hill in an early round.

But in the rematch, he was no match for the Victoria sharp-shooter.

Seaver's Raise In Top Bracket

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Pitcher Tom Seaver signed a contract Wednesday with New York Mets for a reported $120,000.

The contract makes Seaver, 27, the highest paid player in New York baseball history and the youngest to hit the $100,000 plateau in baseball.

Seaver, (20-10) with a 1.76 earned-run average last season, reportedly got $80,000 in 1971.

The Mets also announced the signing of Gary Gentry for a reported $40,000. Gentry, like Seaver is a right-hander.

Delay Of Game Infractions Upsetting Seals' Stasiuk

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The National Hockey League's new rule on delay of game has fired the tempers of numerous penalized players this season but probably never so many at one time as in Montreal Wednesday night.

Referee Bruce Hood called the penalty twice against California Golden Seals and once against Montreal Canadiens as the teams battled to a 1-1 tie with Montreal's goal coming on one of the delay-of-game sentences against Seals goalie Gilles Meloche.

"It is a bush-league rule, the way it was called tonight," said an angry Vic Stasiuk, Seals coach.

In other games Wednesday, Pittsburgh Penguins whipped Toronto Maple Leafs 4-2, Minnesota North Stars downed Detroit Red Wings 4-2, St. Louis Blues beat Los Angeles Kings 3-1 and Chicago Black Hawks tied 3-3 with Philadelphia Flyers.

The new rule adopted this season calls for a minor penalty against any player who deliberately delays the game by firing the puck out of the playing area.

But Stasiuk contended Meloche did not shoot the puck into the crowd deliberately.

"On the call against Meloche, the puck is rolling, there is a race for it between Meloche and Yvan Cournoyer. Meloche gets there first, and just tries to clear the puck away. It goes over the boards and we are penalized."

The second such call against the Seals came in the third period when Seals forward Gary Jarrett was about to get a minor penalty on a delayed interference call. When play stopped, Seals defenceman Carol Vadnais shot the puck into the crowd and was immediately penalized.

The Canadiens failed to score despite the two-man advantage but Vadnais was still unhappy about his penalty.

"How can I be accused of delaying the game when play was already stopped?"

"The play had been whistled down, there was no play in progress, I didn't mean to shoot the puck into the crowd, I just cleared it toward the boards. It hit something and went over, and I can't see how you can delay a game that's already been stopped."

BOWMAN NOT SORE

Montreal coach Scotty Bowman was not bothered by defenceman J.-C. Tremblay getting the delay of game call.

"I don't know whether Tremblay shot the puck out deliberately, but he was penalized," Bowman said. "As for the complaints by California, like I said, the rule is there so the referee has to call it."

"And anyway, what was Vadnais doing with the puck when the play was stopped? It is not his job to do anything whatsoever with the puck once the referee has whistled down the play."

Meloche said he was upset about the call against him, saying it was the second such penalty he has taken this season.

Tremblay was not available after the game for comment but he was obviously upset about his penalty as he argued the point with Hood, earning himself a 10-minute misconduct for his trouble.

The Seals went ahead with Gerry Pinder's goal early in the first period and Pete Mahovlich's score in the second period power play tied it for Montreal.

In Minnesota, Detroit took a 2-0 first-period lead on goals by Tim Ecclestone and Red Berenson but the North Stars came back to tie it in the second period with scores by Murray Oliver and Bob Nevin.

Jude Drouin's goal with five minutes left in the game was the winner for Minnesota and Danny Grant added an insurance goal.

The loss meant the Red Wings remained tied for fourth spot in the East Division with the slumping Maple Leafs who skidded to their 13th loss in 16 games.

The Penguins outshot Toronto 42-29 and defenceman Bryan Watson set up two Pittsburgh goals with hard shots from the blue line. Both of Watson's shots rebounded off goalie Jacques Plante and Ron Schock scored with the first and Syl Apps with the second.

Al McDonough scored the winning goal with a deflection of a shot by Penguins defenceman Duanne Rupp.

Smokies Keep Playoff Hopes

TRAIL, B.C. (CP) — Trail Smoke Eaters kept their slim Western International Hockey League playoff hopes alive Wednesday night, dumping Nelson Maple Leafs 6-4 before 1,000 fans.

Garry Ferro led the Trail attack with two goals. Larry Symon, Wayne Florio, Doug Bentley and Ken Koshey added the others.

Danny Jones scored twice for Nelson and single goals went to Brian Russell and Tom Foxcroft.

The victory gives Trail 34 points, five fewer than Nelson, Cranbrook and Kimberley, locked in a fight for second place. Spokane Jets have already clinched their fifth WHL title.

The Smoke Eaters shelled goalie Dave Halme with 43 shots. Glen Lindsay stopped 32 drives for Trail.

Smart New Home For Gas Company

An attractive new store and office block has risen in downtown Kelowna, just off Bernard Avenue at 1468 St. Paul Street. The new block, easily identified by its gracious white Spanish exterior, was built by Jabs Construction and is owned by Inland Development Company.

It is now the new home of Inland Natural Gas Company's Sales and Service Centre, which utilizes approximately 2,600 square feet on the main floor. The company carried through with the Spanish theme in the decor of their attractive office, reception and show room areas.

Also on the main floor is Bernard Men's Wear, an airy, spacious store catering to discerning buyers of quality male apparel. The main floor of the building, when the other stores are leased, will become a mini shopping centre.

The 3,000 square foot second floor already has two tenants, including Pacific Western Airlines.

The remaining office area is now leasing and is expected to be fully occupied soon.

The second floor features a unique, centrally-located open air patio, where office occupants can enjoy fresh air and Okanagan sunshine, amid landscaped surroundings in complete privacy.

Should the sunshine get too warm, the entire building is fully air conditioned and the forced-air heating system in winter provides constant fresh air changes to combat any stuffiness.

Gordon Cronk, leasing agent for Inland Development Co., says he is very pleased with the progress of leasing arrangements for the building and pointed out that aside from its central location, esthetic appeal and air conditioning, the building has a number of other features, which include ample parking facilities in the immediate area.

COSTLY OPERATION

MONTREAL (CP) — The average price in Montreal for surgery to enlarge breasts is from $400 to $500. The operation, which can last up to two hours, involves inserting gel-filled bags with the same weight and feel as natural breasts. However there is no guarantee as to how long this operation can prevent breasts from sagging.

'Let Quebec Go Free...'

VICTORIA (CP) — A Social Credit member of the British Columbia legislature said Wednesday Quebec should be allowed to separate from the rest of Canada if the province wants it that way.

Harold J. Merilees (SC—Vancouver-Burrard) told the house: "They'll be long gone in six to eight years. Why beat around the bush, why agonize? Let us part friends. We don't want a Northern Ireland in Canada."

"If Quebec wants out, let them out. Remember the saying: 'Convince a man against his will, he is of the same opinion still.' Right now, it's like A. P. Herbert who once branded an unhappy marriage 'holy deadlock'."

Mr. Merilees said Quebec and the rest of Canada have had dozens of marriage counselors, "but no soap." He said there were "just concessions to the sharpies and no happiness or satisfaction for sincere, well-meaning Canadians, whether they be French-speaking Canadians or English-speaking."

"So let's stop pouring money down the rat hole and just pack it up," he said.

"Who knows, this could be the very shrewd reason behind Prime Minister Trudeau continuing to funnel millions upon millions into Quebec."

70,000 Teachers In Quebec Gearing Up For Strike Vote

QUEBEC (CP) — Quebec's 70,000 elementary and high school teachers, disappointed after six months of what they call "inflexible" contract talks, may be gearing for a province-wide strike vote.

The strike, if supported by union members of the Quebec Teachers Corp., the Provincial Association of Catholic Teachers and the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers, could occur early next month.

Robert Gaulin, a spokesman for the three unions, told a news conference Wednesday that a strike talk is "a reality in many parts of the province."

The teachers could technically strike after March 7, he said, but the unions want to make one more effort at the bargaining tables before officially recommending strike action or other tactics.

Union representatives are willing to increase the number of negotiation sessions with the government in an attempt to speed up contract talks, he said.

Teachers across Quebec will be asked in a referendum March 9 whether they accept or reject the government offers.

"The government is going to have to come up with some interesting new offers if it expects us to continue negotiating in good faith," Mr. Gaulin said.

Mr. Gaulin said the teachers were striving for government concessions in job security and that the negotiations had, as yet, dealt only with non-monetary issues.

The government has released salary offers it made to the teachers last September.

It proposed a 15.1-per-cent raise over three years of the 1971-74 contract. By 1974, this would make the highest salary $17,380 scaling down to the lowest at $5,179.

HAS GOOD POINTS

MONTREAL (CP) — The Quebec Corp. of Dieticians says fat is an essential food if not used in excess because it is the chief source of energy provided by food, a means of satisfying hunger as it takes longer to digest than other food and a carrier of important fat-soluble vitamins A, D, E and K.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Opening lead—king of diamonds.
Let's assume you get to six spades and West leads the king of diamonds. How should you play the hand?

In practice, you wouldn't see the East-West cards and this would make the hand that much harder to play. But even if you saw them, you might have trouble—and, in fact, you are hereby cordially invited to try to make six seeing all 52 cards.

The key to the slam is your first play. If you ruff the king of diamonds, you go down, but if you discard a club—as you should—you make the contract. West retains the lead, but is powerless. Let's say he plays the queen of hearts at trick two. You win with the king, ruff a diamond, cash the A-K of trumps and ace of hearts, then ruff a heart.

When you now ruff the third round of diamonds and play two more rounds of trumps, this becomes the position:

You lead the spade and West suddenly acquires a king-size headache. Whatever he discards, you make the rest of the tricks.

Note that at the start of the hand you had eleven sure tricks—that is, all the tricks except two. By conceding the first trick you created the situation typical of practically all successful squeezes—that is, you now had all the remaining tricks except one. Ten tricks later this deliberate concession of a trick pays a very handsome dividend.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

Aries (March 21-April 19): Now is the best and perhaps last time to cover recent discrepancies in your work. Review matters as you close out the week.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Build for the future, don't take chances on current connections, confide little to those you're socializing with.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): You'll be proud of your tact and tactfulness. Claim up for once on today's influences. In passing up invitations, you give yourself time to think, while avoiding games and perhaps borrowers.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Concentrate on things you can handle alone; prefer fresh ventures where you have no set habits established. It's a laborious, cross-purposes sort of day at best.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Creative drives hit a delay factor. Use today's limitations for routine, mental housecleaning, maintenance.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): In most social contacts it seems you go a little more than half way and must be satisfied with rather subtle or poorly expressed responses.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Organize interviews, showings of your work, applications for changes, new jobs, etc. In this day a m.c. generally fortunate day. Share hobbies with friends.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Now the future isn't so tightly bound by what has been the case in the past. Your response to speculative possibilities may include a penny-wise pound-foolish propensity.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Not all vivid ideas go beyond a certain critical point. Switch to something you understand, which worked out well before. Betting has a link on it; nobody wins but the people who run the cash register.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Travel may be postponed or delayed. Use the chance to sort out what is neglected in your office or home desk.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Your system works well on general instances of your regular work, but with today's dealings, an exception requires detailed personal attention.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Quietly go conservative with spending and investing habits. Make a survey of resources and coverage, reserves for contingencies.

Strike Delays Rose's Trial

MONTREAL (CP) — Mr. Justice Eugene Marquis of Court of Queen's Bench Wednesday adjourned the trial of Jacques Rose to March 1 because of the current strike by Quebec prison guards.

Rose, 24-year-old mechanic, is charged with kidnapping Pierre Laporte Oct. 10, 1970.

Mr. Justice Marquis adjourned the trial after defence lawyers Robert Lemieux and Jean-Serge Masse complained they were having difficulties meeting their client because of the strike.

Earlier Wednesday, the judge issued an 11-page ruling rejecting another defence motion to have the current list of jury candidates withdrawn because the list did not include "women and the poor."

MLA CHARGES

Big Chunk Of Hydro Dollar Used To Pay Off B.C.'s Debts

VICTORIA (CP) — A New Democratic Party MLA charged in the British Columbia legislature Wednesday that 34 cents out of every dollar paid by B.C. Hydro customers on their light bills goes directly to the payment of interest on debt.

Roert Strachan (NDP—Cowichan-Malahat), speaking during the debate on second reading of a bill to increase Hydro's borrowing power by $500 million, said the government must stop trying to kid the public that it is debt free.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett, who introduced the bill as finance minister, interrupted to charge that Mr. Strachan was playing with figures and claimed the NDP member had not taken into account such important factors as depreciation allowances.

Liberal leader Dr. Pat McGee tried to adjourn the debate because he said more time should be given to consideration of borrowing authority for such a huge amount.

Mr. Bennett refused, saying "a statement has been made that has to be answered this day" and when the question of adjournment was put to a voice vote, the government majority won.

BOTTLE DISPOSAL
The Consumers' Association of Canada has issued a reminder that bottles prepared for recycling depots must be clean and sorted by color. Paper labels are no problem, but aluminum neck rings that are part of resealable bottle tops should be removed. Light bulbs, earthenware or china and opaque containers such as cold cream or shampoo jars are not acceptable.

THE REDUCING GAME
The Consumers' Association of Canada issues a warning that there is no legislation presently covering reducing salons. Clients are strongly urged to investigate a new company before investing their money, and not to borrow or pledge future income before there is a reasonable certainty that a new venture will provide the service promised.

A squirrel that slips while leaping about in tree tops has built-in protection. By extending its limbs it stretches its skin to form a parachute.
